

Join us for our Ecolutions happy hour event:

"REDEFINING EATING"

Who: Ecolutions is for young professionals with a passion for the environment and sustainability. Ecolutions will be an opportunity for like-minded individuals to discuss pressing ecological challenges and help forge creative solutions.

What: Food is universally the most important commodity in the world. Since everyone must eat to survive, we all have a part in affecting the economy, environment, our culture and health. Few of us give much thought to the means and methods of the food industry, putting it in the hands of an agency we know little about. At this event you will hear from young professionals who have taken action in various ways to redefine eating.

When: Monday, July 20, 2009
at 6:00 PM

Where: The Agency
1939 SW Morrison St. adjacent to PGE Park
